THE WAR IN COREA.

Details of the Recent Naval Engagement Off Yalu.

CONFLICTING REPORTS OF LOSSES.

Chinese Officers Declare That Three Japanese Warships Were Sunk, While Dispatches from Japanese Sources Declare That Their Losses Were Trifling.

TIENTSIN, Sept. 21.-From Chinese offiers with dispatches who have arrived here, and later messages from Port Arthur, a full narrative of the naval battle is obtainable. Admirable Ting, commander of the Chinese northern squadron, was instructed by the council of war here to convoy six transports, and to land the troops, guns and stores at Vi Chow, from which hase China intended to renew operations in Corea. The battleships Ting. uen, Chen Yuen, King Yuen, Ping Yuen, Lai Yuen and Tsi Yuen, and the cruisers Chi Yuen, Ching Yuen, Chao Yuen,Inang Wei, Kwang Kai and Kwang Ting, together with four torpedo boats, acted as escorts to the transports. They arrived at the entrance to the Yalu river early Monday morning, and the embarkation proceeded rapidly, the transports steaming into the river, while the warships anchored outside.

At 11 o'clock smoke on the horizon indicated the approach of a large flotilla. The situation was grasped immediately, and Admiral Ting gave orders for the weighing of anchors and the placing of the ships in battle array. His position was a difficult one. If he remained near the shore his movements would be cramped, and if he steamed out for sea room he ran the risk of a Japanese cruiser or torpedo boat running in among his transports. He chose the lesser of two evil- and formed a fighting line.

The Japanese fleet approached at full speed until within range. Then they advanced in columns, forming into two lines. Nine ironalads and cruisers formed the fighting line, while three gunboats and five torpedo boats formed the second line. Firms commenced forthwith. The guns on both sides were worked unceasingly at long range and the Lits were infrequent. The Japanese crept gradually closer and the gunners made better prac-tice. The Ting Yuen was the first to suffer, a shell bur-ting in her battery. From the outset the Japanese directed a powerful fire upon the Chinese battlesnips Chen Yuen and Ting Yuen. For hinety Linutes a terring cannonade continued. The result was that the Japanese cruiser, reported to have been the Saikio, was placed out of action. One Chinese officer declared that he saw her sink.

In the meantime the two big guns on the Chen Yuen were disabled and the other shaps showed signs of damage. Both fleets were under easy steam, the quanese manenvering continually, while the Chinese held their original postions. Southbly two of the Japanese craisers gought to brook through the Chinese line on the start and sales. Three temperate ars swiftly parshed them. The Chiu York and Char Yuen went at full speed astern to avoid a catastroph? The boats freliter torondoes, but the nets about the decembers stopped them. In the meantime other gams, were brought taller upon the crisers, which are he-Level to have been the Akstashim cand the Yeshinia. They were besten back by thous, ght of metal in an alm et helpless committee. Chinese officers declare that half sank. They did not see them sink. but are positive that they craft not float

The Chinese had fired little better, for the Chinz Yuen had been several times hulled and pierced upon the water line, while the Chao Yuen had stranded while trying to evade the Japanese torpedo hours. All attempts to float her had been frustrated by the fire directed upon her. Finally she burst into flames from shells that had been lodged aboard of her.

The big guns of the Chen Yuen were disabled, but she remained in the fighting line. She worked her smaller and machine guns whenever an opportunity presented itself.

The Tsi Yuen retired to the second line and the King Yuen was in a terrible plight. A shell burst through her decks and set fire to her, and with the flames bursting from her she slowly settled down.

The Chinese torpedo boats issued to make a diversion in the enemy's line, but the attempt was a failure. Throughout the fight the attack was always with the Japanese. Twice or thrice more they sought to break through the Chinese fighting line, but until the last the Chinese guns were able to stop them, and the Japanese never reached the transports The Chinese vessels gave way before the attacks, and while doing so the Yang Weistranded stern first. Her fate was similar to that of the Chao Yuen.

After the first three hours the fire became intermittent. The Chi Yuen, which still bravely fought her guns when she was nothing more than a wallowing wreck, was struck by a torpedo and sank with all on board. The scene was now appalling. The guns on several of the ships on both sides were disabled, and the great ships rolled heavily. The streams of green water pouring from most of their sides showed that the steam pumps were incessantly working, and testified to the extent of the a image inflicted. Some of the Chinese ships had exhausted their ammunition during the last hour of the fight-

More than one of the Japanese vessels seemed to be on the point of foundering. ### Chicago's Fighting Journalists.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 .- Two duels instead of one may be fought by City Editor Ruebesamen, of The Abend Post. The prospects of the first one with Editor-in-Chief J. P Steppes, of The Frei Presse, are thought by the friends of the principals to be very flattering. Steppes, who was challenged by Ruebesamen because of articles reflecting on the German Press club published in The Frei Presse, said that if Ruebesamen insisted be should have all the sati-faction he wished. Cutlasses have been named as weapons, and it is thought if the fight occurs it will result in bloodshed. Ruebesamen yesterday afternoon encountered City Editor Seldman, of The Frei Presse, and after a quarrel issued a challenge to Seldman. The second duel, if it occurs, will be fought after the encounter with Steppes is finished. Seldman, like the others, was formerly a German army officer.

AGAINST SWEATERS.

Great Strike of Clothing Workers at Boston.

OVER FIVE THOUSAND NOW OUT.

Both Contractors and Manufacturers Surprised at the Completeness of the Strike. Merchants Believe That the Strikers Will Succeed in Getting Better Prices.

Boston, Sept. 21.-The ready made clothing industry of this city was completely paralyzed yesterday by a strike of operatives. At an early hour a committee from the United Garment Workers' union, acting upon instructions from the Clothing Trades District Council No. 2, commenced the war by calling out every operative, pressman and hatter employed in the 250 shops here. By noon 2,000 were out, and at the close of the day fully 5,500 clothing workers had joined the strike.

The issue of the strike is now clearly defined as being an endeavor to secure the abolition of the lumping and sweating system, and the adoption of the week wage system and the nine hour day. Although the contractors favor the demands of the operators, they claim that as the wholesale dealers decline to grant anything, their bands are tied.

Both contractors and manufacturers are surprised at the completeness of the strike. It was expected by the trades council that in some shops a few operators would refuse to come out, but the doubtful ones were among the first to leave, and today it is confidently asserted that not a contractor within a circuit of five miles can obtain an operator.

Early in the day a number of contractors had conferences with the committee of employes, and afterwards the contractors held a meeting lasting five hours. They decided that an effort should be made to induce the manufacturers to increase their prices, and a committee was appointed to draw a bill of prices in conformity with the demands of the em-

The strikers held a monster mass meeting in Well- Memorial ball in the aftermoon, and it was the sentiment of the meeting that no one should return to work under the old conditions. The District Council has drawn up agreements for the signatures of individual contractors who have piedged themselves to accede to the demand- of their employes, and who will also give bonds that they will abide by the agreement.

A number of wholesale merchants were seen by an Associated Press reporter, and the general concensus of opinion was that the operators have struck just at the right time, and the manufacturers will have to increase their prices fully 40 per

AFFAIRS IN NICARAGUA.

The Disturbed Country Again on the Verge of Civil War.

MADRIZ COMPELLED TO WEAKEN.

On the Demand of Captain O'Neil, of the United States Cruises Marblehead, the Dictator Revokes a Ridiculous Decree Regarding the Elections.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—The Associated Press correspondent in Bluefields, Nicaragua, under date of Sept. 15, says:

This is the Independence Day of Nicaragua, but it is not as happy as it should be, for it brings this land one day closer to the certain civil war which will play havoc with prosperity for awhile. Bluefields has enjoyed a municipal election, officers have been elected, and still martial law exists, for the simple reason that Nicaraguans attempted to elect Americans to office without even taking the trouble to consult these Americans.

However, they were not very wrong in their selection of the candidates, and but two of five gentlemen declined to serve. Madriz had stated that any successful candidate who refused to serve in the office to which he had been elected would be fined $50 a day throughout the entire term of office, but the determined stand of Captain O'Neil compelled Madriz to ignore his own decree.

On the afternoon of Sept. 10 the English cruiser arrived and notified Captain O'Neil that she had on board the exiled residents and two Americans, Sim Lampton of New Orleans, and Captain W. R. Wilbank of Philadelphia. Both Mr. Lampton and Captain Wilbank were anxious to board the Marblehead in order that when the instructions should come to the naval commander to see that a trial was granted or a release enforced. They were exiles, not political refugees, and Captain O'Neil willingly tendered them quarters on his ship.

News that the other exiles were on the English cruiser had spread rapidly in Bluefields, and the greatest excitement prevailed. Those at government headquarters were dumbfounded, and scarcely knew what to expect. Several sailing vessels headed for the open sea at once with friends and families of the exiles on board. It was their one opportunity to see the loved ones before they left Nicaragua forever, for the Mohawk was to sail for Port Limon at midnight, and the banished residents of Bluefields would take passage for Kingston and the United

Difficth Anniversary of Dr. Wells' Experiment and the Morton-Wells Controversy. Half a century ago Dr. Horace Wells of Hartford conferred a great boon upon humanity by discovering the anæsthetic which he called laughing gas, and on Dec. 11 next the American and Connecticut Dental associations will celebrate the liftieth anniversary of the event. On Dec. 10 the Connecticut association will place a bronze memorial

DR. HORACE WELLS. tablet on the zanite building now occupying the site of Dr. Wells' office in Hartford, and the members will then join the national body in Philadelphia, where appropriate exercises will be held.

Dr. Wells had witnessed an exhibition of the effects of laughing gas and noted that persons partly under its influence did not feel pain. He had an aching tooth and concluded to take the gas and test his theory that a patient completely under the effects of the auæsthetic could have teeth extracted without suffering. When the tooth was pulled, Dr. Wells felt no pain and believed he had made one of the greatest discoveries of the age. A public test, which failed because not enough of the anæsthetic was used, is said to have so discouraged him, however, that he abandoned his experiments.

At the public test, which occurred in Boston, Dr. Wells was assisted by his former partner, Dr. W. T. G. Morton, who was then a prominent Boston dentist, with a practice of $20,000 a year. Morton was so impressed with the idea that he gave up his practice and began experimenting with ether. On Sept. 30, 1846, he bravely inhaled the ether himself and was unconscious over seven minutes. Shortly thereafter a patient came in, and with considerable foreboding Morton gave him the ether and pulled a tooth without causing his patient the slightest pain. He then induced the surgeons in the Massachusetts General hospital to use the ether while performing a painful operation. The result was an astonishing success, and from that time forth surgery was robbed of its agony. Morton and Wells each claimed the discovery, and a bitter contioversy arose. Wells, however, was undenbredly the actual discoverer, but great credit was due Morton for developing the discovery and bringing it into

This is the way a good old Irish woman praises some washing-powder or other which she prefers to Pearline. As it small meeting hall just outside the pollwas proven she had never tried Pearline, the compliment would appear to be in favor of Pearline.

Whoever heard of any one claiming that Pearline hurt the hands? But there's the trouble—Pearline is the original washing compound; its popularity has drawn out thousands of imitations—so popular that to many it indicates any powdered washing material. If you are using Pearline, you are satisfied; if you are dissatisfied, try Pearline. If you are using something with which you are satisfied and it is not Pearline, try Pearline-you will wonder you were satisfied before. Pearline is economical and absolutely harmless. ## WILSON TALKS.

Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago III., and I live in Evanston, III. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies should feel the same solicitude it it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still. I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has a constructive well as force the preliminaries of New I have thought over what I a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much valic, because circumstances must necessarily have been different alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess,

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy ank secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this; that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end-and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God his a time old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume. ume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

HOW THEY VOTE IN JAPAN.

Polls That Present a Striking Contrast

There was little laughter, less loud argument and no angry disputing. Every now and then, like bees leaving a hive, a figure was seen to separate from the rest and move off toward the polling room, and anon another returned. One saw among them here and there the modern Japanese, with his imitation of foreign garments, in appearance seldom elegant, often awkward, and generally out of harmony with the surroundings. But chiefly there came the old fashioned rustle, in his best silk robes, with square shaven crown and short queue caught up and tied-perhaps wearing the hakama, or divided skirt, of the old samurai. A gentleman in every act, he bows as he enters to the official at the door, carefully writes his ballot and affixes his seal, then with great deliberation folds it and places it in the oblong official envelope. For some of the voters it is necessary to seek the assistance of a special clerk in writing their ballots. It is not that they cannot write; for everybody knows the pleneign known or syllawriting. They prefer to see their ballots inscribe! with the more elegant Showese characters; and then, too, the kana is sometimes, ambiguous (for some words have a dozen different meanings,. and there is a natural perturbation and a desire to have their meaning clearly and correctly conveyed. When the writing is finished the long sleeved voter walks over to the tachininin, or in-pectors. Here instaer effusions of politeness take pla ", while the voter givehis name, number and address, and is checked off on the register. Then, with another gestare of courtesy, he turns to the ballot box, and with a bow, berhapin duplicate, to the kind old mayor, who sits behind the box, he carefully deposits his ballot and quietly retires by another door.-J. Used to Being Married That Way.

A welding ceremony commed some ears also of a then. United States senator, who, a widower twice over, had for the third time succumbed to Cupid's wiles. At his first and second marriage the commonly had been performed by an Episcopal chrgyman, and hence the secator was quite familiar with the Episcopal marriage form.

But the leastiful woman who hall captured his affections the third time was a devout Presoy terian, and naturally wished the committal knot to be tied by a minister of her own charen, and according to its simple service. To this the state-man lover made no objection. The character of the service was of small account to him so long as it served to unite him to the orgect or his adoration, and the thought that he might blunder in the course of it never disturbed for a moment the serenity of his mind.

But, standing beside his bride to be. tage fright, as it might be called, seized hun. In the excitement he began to marry himself, as it were, by the Episcopal service, repeating glibly: "1, ----, take thee, —, to be my wedded wife," and he would probably have gone on to the end if the astonished Pre-byterian minister, who immediately appreciated the situation, had not interposed, and, interrupting the bridegroom, performed the ceremony with the brevity of the Pre-byteman form.

At the point where the perturbed groom seemed bent on doing the business for himself a distinguished brother senator present drew near to a lady, another guest, a close friend of his own and of the bridal pair, and whispered in a pitying tone:

"Poor -....... He's used to being married by the other service."-Washington

Fallacy of Fish and Brain.

One popular fallacy in connection with fish may be noticed, namely, the oft repeated assertion that the eating of that particular food increases brain power. No one who has studied the subject can possibly believe the assertion. A man might eat a huge portion of fish every day of his life, and on the day of his death, if the quantity of phosphorus (the brain invigorator) consumed were to become visible, it would not amount to more than might probably suffice to tip a couple of luciter matches.

Communities have existed that lived almost solely on fish, but these ichthyophagists were certainly not famous for intellectual attainments. Nor are our fisher villages, in many of which much fish is presumably consumed, the seats of any great amount of brain power. None of our fisherfolks are remarkable for genius, or even what is called common sense, their views of life and its responsibilities being shrouded in a haze of superstation, which they lack sufficient strength of mind to see through.

No fishing community, so far as is known to the writer, has given to the world a great man. Men of markpoets, preachers, lawyers, philosophers, nated, in Scotland at any rate, from all classes except the fishing class.-Temple

Wasting His Breath.

Out at the ball grounds a small boy who occupied a pew in the bleachers said a funny thing. One of the Albany players was at the bat, and after a couple of balls and a strike had been called on him he hit a long foul to right field. He at once started for first base, and with head down plunged along in the same way that a steer is supposed to run through the corn. The small boy over in the bleachers watched him for a minute and then yelled out at the top of a very shrill and squeaky voice: "Say, cully, come back. You're working overtime."-Rochester Democrat.

The March of Advanced Science Throughout the World.

ITS VALUE TO US-

A Declaration Made by the Great Doctor Pothergill for the Benefit of the People of the World has Aroused Much Attention,

London, Eng., September .- The following statement, made by the late Dr. J. Milner Fothergill, the eminent scientist, who was physician for the London Hospital for diseases of the cheat, has made quite a sensation. After denoucing oils and similar substances when used as food, Le said: "Fatty, oily foods cannot be taken by those whose stomachs are weak or whose digestive organs are out of order. What food should such people have? I say they need food which acts as a strengthener and sustainer, as fuel to feed the lamp of life, and that is starch food. A soluble starch food which will be readily assimilated by the digestive organs are weak."

It was only natural that such a statement, coming from so high an authority, should have made a profound impression among the leading physicians and scientists of Europe, and it brings into special prominence the recent discovery of predigested starch food known to doctars, to scientists and the world as Paskola. Comparatively few people outside the highest medical circles know of this wonferful discovery, but it is known to possess the qualities of flesh-forming, strength-imparting, life-giving power which has never been known before in the history of the world, Tests have been made upon patients in a weak, pale, run-down condition, accompanied with indigestion and general loss of energy, and the results are truly remarkable. It really looks as though this newly discovered food, Paskola, will take its rank as the most efficient fleshproducer and cure for dvapepala of the nineteenth century. It is certainly superseding cod liver oil and the fatty preparations which have been used so extensively, and this but confirms the wisdom of the judg ment of those who predicted for it unequaled success.

In the treatment of disease, as in allelse, "The proof of the pudding is in the eating." The Rev. A. F. Beebe, of Worth Center, N. Y., is but one of thousands who have been benefited by this ingenious and valuable preparation. He writes, under date of April 14, 1894, as follows:

"I can truly say it is a pleasure to give to the world a testimonial in regard to Paskols, for it has certainly accomplished wonders for mys if and wife. We have taken $4.50 worth, less than the price of one visit from our physician, and it has done for us what no doctor's prescription or patent medicine has ever done. For twenty-five years I have suffered untold miseries through a disordered stomach. For years I have had to abstain from meats, but after one dose of Paskola, have eaten meator any other food my appetite craved, with no evil results.

"In regard to my wife I hardly know how to write. It certainly appears like a miracle. Months passed with her with no appetite, and so reduced in flesh and vitality was she that we were looking for nothing short of speedy death. But Providence appeared in the shape of a little pamphlet tucked away under the string of a package brought from a neighboring town, and by me tossed upon the table with the remark, Here, wife, is something to cure your ills and give you an appetite." She read it and said to me, 'I have faith to believe that if I had that Paskola it would belp me.' The next day I secured a bottle and she began taking it. That was four weeks ago. To-day she can eat anything she craves, something she has not before done in months.

"I regret we did not weigh ourselves before we began to take Paskola, but the truth is that I had no great faith in it, so many things had failed, but you have won our lasting gratitude. You can make such use of this testimonial as you wish. I send it for the simple reason that I have the good of my fellow men at heart."

RUSTICUS TO THE RESCUE. A Newspaper Man Saves the Farmers From Being Fleeced. From the Downsville News.

At the recent tri-county fair, held at Sidney, Rusticus, the up-Midland correspondent of the Argus, made a decided sensation among the sharks and other gamblers who frequented the pool rooms under the grand stand. It appears that a wheel of fortune and sweat board had been running there on Wednesday, and many gullible ones had lost money, among them a Sidney merchant who dropped $43 at one time, and this probably represented but a small proportion of the profits of that day's work. Rusticus, of Rockland, was at the fair grounds and, seeing the money lost by several unsuspecting grangers, made a grand kick against allowing the gambling machines on the grounds. This made the owners of them very mad and at one time the bold Scotchman was threatened with arrest for his interference, but they didn't scare him, as he isn't the least bit timid. Instead he kept up the warfare against them, and as he was backed up by every farmer present, the wheel of fortune and sweat board were forced to suspend operation. It was a hard fought battle against two games of chance which are in direct violation of the laws of our State, but the result proved to the fair officers that they can't always bluff a citizen who halls from Bockland, Sullivan county.

Why not? Are not our royal families as good as those of Europe, of Asia, of Africa or anywhere else where royal families are telerated? Mr. McAllister will undoubtedly agree with us that they certainly are. It makes no great difference how power over man is obtained-whether by the force and brutality which made princes in more primitive times or by modern methods. The result is the same in any event. It is just as honorable and glorious a thing to accumulate a hundred million unearned dollars and thereby master the bodies and subjugate the minds of 10,-000,000 men as it is to do the same thing by virtue of controlling a million bayonets. On either hand it is power usurped from the people to dwarf and greater glory of their masters. Our royal families need not stand back for those of Europe or of any other country. Their right to reign is as good. their blood is as good, and their manners, though sometimes indecent when measured by ordinary standards of decency, are even better than these which characterize the most courtly courts of the world. When our reigning families go to Enrope and buy the palaces of the effete survivors of a decayed fendalism, it is condescension to entertain the former owners, and it would be condescension still if it were done in the servants' hall instead of the salon.-New York

The nomination of Morton puts it in the power of Democrats to make the issue in the coming campaign "bar'l" vs. brains.

The B ffalo Commercial, Republican, does not meekly bow its neck to the Platt yoke, and its comment on Morton's nomination is that it is a "demonstration and tribute to Platt's personal skill as an intriguer and a boss."

The interest and enthusiasm mani. fested by the Onio Democrats in State convention assembled show that they enter on the campaign firm in the faith, confident of the righteousness of their cause and sanguine of success at the polls.

The talk of New York and Brooklyn Democrats, yesterday, was all in favor of William J. Gaynor, of Brooklyn, as a candidate for Governor. Tammany and anti-Tammany men, McLaughlinites and Shepardites all favored his nomination and expressed the belief that with him at the head of the ticket, a winning fight could be made.

One clause in the Republican plat form is a "dalsy." It says: "We ask all who favor a discontinuance of tariff agitation, or who believe in the restoration of Republican protection, to elect Republican members of the House of Representatives in every district." It would puzzle even a Republican spell-binder to explain how there can be a "restoration of Republican protection" if there is to be at the same time "a discontinuance of tariff agitation."

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the New York and New Jersey Bridge Company, yesterday, Secretary Swan made the statement that, from an engineering and financial standpoint, a cantilever bridge with a 2,000 feet span, is the only feasible and practicable structure. Such a bridge could be built in four years at a cost not to exceed $20,000,000, including interest on bonds during construction, while a suspension bridge would take eight | For cure of headache, Constipation, years to build and would cost $35,-000,000 an amount so large that capital could not be attracted to the en-

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 .- A gang of colored and white toughs held up an 8th avenue street car, full of passengers, on Hudson street, shortly before midnight last night, and "went through" the passengers in genuine wild western style.

The gang numbered fully a dozen, and it reaped a harvest of watches, jewelry and money. The car horses were held by two of the gang, while the others went through the pockets of the passengers. A number of the passengers were beaten. The police, attracted by the cries of the passengers, succeeded in capturing two of the robbers. The others escaped.

KYRLE BELLEW'S VANITY.

How It Was Once Sadly Disconcerted by an American Girl. There had been lively discussions some years ago over a then seemingly important question theatrically, and indeed socially, "Was or was not Kyrle Bellew possessed of great vanity?"

I believe the matter has never been definitely settled, though in an individnal instance I recall it would seem there was valid ground for a decision in the affirmative.

The occasion was an informal "evening" at Mis. Lester Wallack's, and gathered about one of the tables were two or three young ladies, Mr. Bellew and other men. Bellew had some bits of paper in his hands, from which he was idly fashioning little boats. "I hear," he drawled, addressing no one in particular, "that your American navy is badly in need of ships. I propose to remedy the trouble by presenting you with a few "One girl spoke up quickly in slightly sareastic vein, "I am sure we all render sincere thanks in the name of the American navy."

The actor favored her by an especially comprehensive glance, and finishing his boat penciled a few lines on it and rather patronizingly tossed it over to

The girl picked the boat up slowly (this was the first occasion she had met Mr. Bellew) and read: "My love to you. Kyrle Bellew," A rather vivid flush overspread her face, but looking the young man steadily in the eyes she said in tones sufficiently clear for comprehension, "The sentiment inscribed here (indicating the paper heat) is surely too much of an honor for any one woman to aspire to: so, with your permission, Mr. Bellew, I will take it home, raffle it and-send you the proceeds." She then rose, bowed and left the table, at the same time leaving Mr. Bellew sufficiently disconcerted to bite his lips and permit his brow the shadow of a frown. -New York Herald.

A VETERAN'S VERBICT

The War is Over. A Well-known Sol dier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In fiterature it is rapidly acquiring an arrivable place. In war and literature blomon Yewell, well known as a writer as Sol," has won an honorable position. Buring the late war he was a member of Co. M. 2d. N. Y. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervino, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfelly. We say to all, try these remedies."

THE LANGUAGE OF FINGERS.

Their Silent Talk Is Important In Board of Trade Transactions.

Thousands of visitors who yearly go to the board of trade and watch the traders on the exchange floor from the public gallery express surprise at the rapid manner in which business is transacted. As a rule, the wheat pit attracts them, and they do not understand how commodities change hands with such lightning rapidity, and how hundreds of thousands and millions of bushels are bought and sold in an incredibly short space of time is to the novice a profound mystery. They do not know that the brokers do a great deal of their work by finger signs, seldom understood by the outsider.

It requires only the fraction of a second to buy and sell 50,000 bushels of wheat. "I'll sell 50 'Sep.' at an eighth," cries one of the brokers, and he has hardly finished speaking before another on the opposite side yells "Sold." The trade is put down on the trading card, and the transaction, which involves over $30,000, has been completed.

The number of bushels offered for sale is indicated by holding up one finger for each 5,000 bushels. So in selling 50,000 bushels the broker simply holds up both hands and waves them from him, which explains itself as wanting to dispose of the lot. In addition to this, brokers have a complete finger code by which the condition of the market is communicated. The signs generally used are as follows:

The first finger held up stands for one-eighth of 1 cent, as the traders all know the main price. If, for instance, the first sale of wheat after the market opened was made at 60 cents and the next at 60 1% cents, the trader simply holds up one finger for the advance of one-eighth of 1 cent. The upward position of the finger is to show the upward course of the market. Should the market be bearish and the price decline to 59 1/8 cents, the signal for this would be a closed hand, with the thumb pointing downward. This shows the price seveneighths of a cent and the status of the market downward. - Chicago Tribune.

AN ABSENTMINDED MAN.

He Went Fishing and Forgot That It Was His Wedding Day.

The Rev. George Harvest, minister of Thames Ditton, a great scholar and skillful fisherman, was one of the most absentminded men of his time. He was engaged to a daughter of the bishop of Loudon, but on the day of his wedding, being gudgeon fishing, he overstaid the appointed hour, and the lady, justly offended at his neglect, broke off the With Arthur Onslow, the speaker of the house of commons, Mr. Harvest was on terms of great intimacy. Being one day in a punt together on the Thames, he began to read a beautiful dassage from some Greek author, and throwing himself backward in an ecstasy fell into the river, whence he was with difficulty fished out.

When Lord Sandwich was canvassing for the vice chancellorship of Cambridge, Harvest, who had been his schoolfellow went down to give him his vote. In a large company the two were joking together on their schoolboy tricks. The parson suddenly exclaimed, or summic Twitcher?" "Why," answered his lerdship, "from some foolish fellow." "No, no," interrupted Harvest, "it isn't some but every body that calls you so."

When this gentleman's mind was not absent, it was, however, very useful to him. Having lost himself at Calais, and not being able to speak a word of French, he managed to convey to the inhabitants that he was staying at the Silver Lion by putting a shilling in his mouth and setting himself in the attitude of a lion rampant.—London Illustrated News.

Indians Tracking.

It was a most strange and interesting experience to see the Indian read all the signs of the different animals in the grass or among the woods with the same case as we read an open book. The least disarrangement in the grass or sticks, however small, was enough. Glancing casually at it in passing, he would say: "Bear—a week old." "Yesterday." "Deer-this morning." "Very old." "Caribon-last month," and so on. It was wonderful to behold this iustinct in a man.

I had for a long time been following this trail of the moose, which I thought was a fresh trail, when I got sick of it and began to cross examine Mr. Big Partridge as to how far off our quarry was likely to be. Big Partridge then showed that he was sick of the imaginary moose hunt himself and owned up, "Old trail; all moose nipoh"—that is, dead. He had only been leading mo about in this way to amuse me, knowing it useless the whole time. He exacted $2.50 for that day's sport .-Blackwood's Magazine.

THE LAZY FIRST BASEMAN.

He Was Favored by Rain Until the Manager Drowned Him Out.

The retired left fielder was telling the "Hank McGinnis," he said, "was the greatest first baseman I ever seen. He could play the bag outer sight when he was a mind to, but he was the laziest man in 27 counties, and he didn't play no ball when he could git outen it. He was allays turnin up with a spiked foot or a split thumb or somethin of the kind, an ginerally made out to lay off more'n half the time. The summer we were playin in the Western league we struck a manager who was onto Hank's curves. He took him to one side when the season begun an tol him that he wouldn't stand no grafts. He marked out to him that if he didn't play every day he would git laid off an lose his pay. Sore heels an thumbs was

"Hank, bein lazier than ever that year, was considerbul stirred up about this. He didn't have no likin to play, but he was hot after the long green, an he kep' playin along an kickin like a bay steer all the time. Finally he got a couple of days' lay off an went to see his mother, so he said. He got back on time an complained of being sick, but the manager tol him t' git inter th' game or lose 20 cold plunks, an he got in. Nex' day we couldn't play. There was a big rain. Jus' before the time t' call the game on the day after that they was another big rain.

"An it went on like this fer a straight 30 days. It would allays rain jus' before the game, whether we was home or away. Hank he got fat loafin around an was on first rate terms with hisself. Finally the manager had to let out some of the men to reduce expense, an Hank got the run. Then the rains stopped. Now, what do you think that man done so's he could git his money without workin? Seems he knew somethin about rainmakin, an when he took that trip home he got his chemicals together an didn't do a thing but make rain every afternoon jus' before the game. ''—Luffalo Express.

St. Murphy.

There is in one of the departments in Washington an old maid whom I call St. Murphy, not because she is so saintlike in appearance, for my saint has a jolly face, and in that woman, whose hair is sprinkled with gray and upon whose cheeks the roses of youth have reased to bloom. I see a beauty that leaves nothing to be desired.

She comes into the dining room accompanied by a little girl and boy. My woman's eye soon detects something a little out of the usual. The children look too young to be hers, so I make inquiries and find that they are hers by adoption. She found these children with a dying mother, whom she made happy by promising to care for them. How faithfully she is keeping her promise! She has taken them to her heart. They show, as children always do, that they have not only food and clothes, but love, and plenty of it. Do you wonder that I call her saint? Here is that woman, at the age when women soonest tire, going daily to her work, no matter what the weather, cold or rain, denying herself that she may make these children comfortable. When I see her in the evening, weary from her day's work, but her dear old face beaming with love, I say to myself, "There is a woman who has won heaven, and I am glad to have known her," and I murmur, "God bless Miss Murphy!"—Harriette P. Crabbe in Minneapolis Housekeeper.

Chemical Reaction. A French chemist has lately made some investigations in a field not hitherto so thoroughly explored as many others, and from them he draws the conclusion that chemical reaction cannot occur between 125 degrees and 150 degrees. Sulphuric acid and ammonia will not react at 80 degrees, while at 60 to 65 degrees the action is sudden and violent. Neither caustic soda nor caustic potash can be made to unite with the same acid below 125 degrees C. nor with earbonates below 80 degrees. With the latter, brisk effervescence sets in about 30 degrees. If nitric instead of sulphuric acid is used in such experiments, the temperature where reaction begins seems to be lowered in every

"As we stood in silence watching the rosy glow which played over the white surface of the retort a feeling came to us of awe certainly, but also of peace and rest. "Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. L. G. WILSON, Manager. TELEPHONE CALL NO. 35,

Now Mr. Finkenbinder Gave His Boy a Boxing Lesson.

COMPAUEL

"The way to do with your boy," said Mr. Finkenbinder, "Is to make a comrade of him You've got to enter into his sports as far as possible of the thim as an equal. That's the way to gain his confidence and keep him out of mischief. Make him understand you haven't forgotten that you were a boy once yourself. That's what I am going to do with Wesley."

"What scheme have you got on hand now, Lemucl" inquired Mrs. Finkenbin-

der. 'I haven't got any scheme. I'm simply going to adopt a plain, common sense way of doing things. We-ley's getting old chough now to be of some account. If I can keep him off the street by taking some sort of interest in his amusements and showing him that he needn't hunt up hoodlums when he wants to have a good time, maybe it'll do him some good, and it won't do me any harm."

It was a day or two after this that Mr. Finkenbinder, with a large pasteboard box under his arm, took his way out to the barn, where his eldest son was amusing himself by making a kite.

"Wesley," he said, opening the box and taking out two pairs of new and spotlessly white boxing gloves, "how would you like to develop your muscle?"

Wesley started in open eyed wonder and said he guessed he'd like it first rate.

"I haven't had a pair of them on for 20 years," said his father. "When I was about your age or a little older, I was rather handy with them. It's good exercise. It trains you to be quick," he added, removing his coat and vest and putting on a pair of the gloves. "It hardens your naiseles and torghens your sinews, and there - no telling when it may come handy to know how to box. You put them on this way."

He assisted Wesley in donning the gloves, threw himself in boxing attitude, and proceeded:

"Now, Wes, this is about the position. Don't hold that arm so awkwardly. Guard your chest with it, like this. Throw out the other arm, so. That's right. Keep your shoulders well back, one foot well in advance of the other, your hands up in this shape, and watch your adversary's guard. Now, look out, I'm going to lead."

Mr. Finkenbinder made a pass at Wesley's head. The boy dodged the blow, lunged back somewhat awkwardly and caught his father on the eye. "H'm!" and Mr. Finkenbinder, slightly disconcerted, but coming gamely to the scratch again, "that wasn't so had for a beginner. Now, put yourself in position as before. You lead, and I'll counter."

"You've get it in you. Wes," said his father, squaring off again, but with more churion. 'Now, you lead again, and I'll sh w you. Here! What are you doing!' For Wesley had upper out him on the

"You go at it so awkwardly." said Mr. Finkenbind r, aiming a blow at Wesley's 1, ad and catching one in return on the paw, "that you get in-ide a fellow's guard when he isn't looking for it. Now, I'm going to land one on your chest," he contimed, moving warily toward the boy, and you - our you can cross counter, like this and got back at me"-

There was a rapid interchange of blows, a mixing up of father and son in one tumultuous round without the interference of referce, time-keeper, police or spectators, and at the end of it Mr. Finkenbinder was sitting on the floor, half dazed, rubbing his eyes with his gloves and wondering what allol his rose. We have what ailed his nose. Wesley was dancing about him and seesawing his arms back and forth in a state of active preparation for a renewal of the contest.

Mr. Finkenbinder rose up, took off the gloves, sat down on a bag of oats and rubbed his jaw thoughtfully.

"Wes," he said, "is this the first time you ever had boxing gloves on?"

"N-no, sir," admitted We-ley, "We've -we've got a symnasium at school, you know. I reckon you aidn't base 'em at school when you were a boy."-Chicago

PROCEEDINGS OF LAST NIGHT'S REGULAR MEETING.

Complaints of a Flooded Street and Flooded Cellars Due to Defective Sowerage-The Fire Alarm and the Electric Road-Application for Fran-

A regular meeting of the Common Council was held, last evening. Present, President Dorrance and Aldermen Baldwin, Funnell, Greene, Lud-

Mr. C. M. Winchester called the attention of the Council to the condition of Lake avenue, which, commencing at Olive street, is flooded and children are forced to wade through it or remain away from school and employes of the glass factory are compelled to wade or go around by the railway track. Horses at certain times of the year almost mire in the street. He also spoke of a pond that empties into the street at one point and a boulder at another that should be removed. He thought enough taxes were paid in that section to have a passable street,

FLOODED CELLARS.

Peter Cummings in behalf of J. & P. Cummings said that the cellar of his firm at the corner of Fulton street and East avenue had been flooded eight times since the breaking up of winter, owing to the fact that there is only a 12 inch sewer to carry off all the water that accumulates there. On Wednesday he had employed men to strip off ;and wada waist deep in the cellar and take out articles.

ANOTHER COMPLAINT.

William Lindsay addressed the Council in reference to the Draper Brook sewer. He said Wednesday night he had 18 inches of water in his cellar on Houston avenue, and he had had a similar experience at other times. He had paid his assessment and had put in check valves in his two houses, but while they prevented the backing up of filth, they did not prevent the accumulation of water.

FIRE ALARM VS. ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

F. T. Smith, superintendent of the hre alarm system, said that something should be done in reference to the complications brought about by the erection of trolley wires. If it was the business of the company to make the system safe, it should be done at once; if the city was compelled to change its wires, new poles should be provided and erected and the line made safe. He was of the opinion that the franchise required the Traction Company to protect the fire alarm wires, and guard wires should be put up where needed.

the Traction Company, was present, and said that his company was willing to do all that was necessary to protect the fire alarm service.

REPAIRS WANTED ON COTTAGE STREET. Mr. C. E. Crawford called the attention of the Council to the condition of Cottage street from Wisner avenue to the city limits, which he said was sadly in need of repairs.

On motion of Mr. Baldwin the matter was referred to the chairman of the Street Committee, with power to

Mr. H. W. Purdy said for the first time he had a complaint to make. He owned the property No. 44 Academy avenue, and his tenants had to close the windows at night on account of the stench, and at times he found it difficult to rent the property. And now the sewer backs into the basement. He did not want to sue the city for damages, although he believed he had a much better action than some that had been brought and collected.

Chief Engineer Thorps reported that the Board of Engineers had decided to hold the annual parade Oct. 1th, and asked that the Council do not forget to order a draft for the appropriation, as it did last year.

some of his neighbors desired to build an arch over Draper Brook in the rear of their premises, and wanted the city to give the grade.

the appointment as janitor of fire houses was read.

AN ANONYMOUS COMMUNICATION.

A communication was read, the substance of which was as follows: of nearly one-half of the land neceseary for the extension of Beacon street, and says an examination of the release of the land to the city will show that it ceased to be operative on Dec. 31, 1893, and the release was only good on condition that the be completed by that date. This matter is referred to because the writer does not wish the city to be come "entangled in further illegal complications," and for like reasons adds that it is now not expected that the release of the street will be renawed.

Aleasons assigned for the position

First-That the whole transaction of the commission was one-sided, anjust in the extreme. Instead of giving credit for release of land for right of way the commission need it to pile up dishonest taxalion upon persons who had petitioned for the Second-The writer is unable to learn from the report of the commission what land is covered in the extension, for the reason that two surveys were made, one by Civil Engineer Cantine and the other by Civil Engineer C. J. Everson. The latter survey is used in all advertisements and by the commission in its reports, but at the same time is "muddled" with reference to a map that shows something different.

"The whole transaction,"the writer concludes, " was such an illegal mixture of contrarities that to do anything to aid its enforement would only complicate the condition of M. Snook, with whom she resided at matters and might cause litigation the time of her death.

and trouble in the future. "I pointed out all these errors to the commission, but they answered me by public sneers and blatant asso, and I choose now to thwart the outrageously dishonest work of the said commission."

The communication was not signed but was written on a letter head of lem, N. J., where she passed the John W. Hasbrouck and Lydia Sayer | major part of her life. Hasbrouck, and as they are the owners of most of the land in the vicinity, one or the other is doubtless the author of the communication and neglected to sign it. Owing to the

WANT A CHANGE OF POLLING PLACE.

A petition from voters of the Second District of the First Ward asked that the polling place be changed to the Exchange Hotel. Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. APPLICATION FOR FRANCHISE.

The Middletown-Goshen Traction Company asked for a franchise, as follows:

Beginning at West Main street and running thence through Bonnell street to Chestnut street or the extension thereof, now about to be laid

On motion of Mr. Baldwin the clerk was directed to advertise notice of a hearing on the application as the law directs, at Sp. m., Oct. 18th.

At the last meeting a tree on the premises of Mrs. Shaw was ordered removed to make room for a crosswalk, but Mrs. Shaw objected, and the matter was referred to the Street Committee and City Attorney.

CROSSWALKS ORDERED. Crosswalks were ordered as follows: on Washington street, corner of Sprague avenue; north side of Prince street, at Cottage street; on Sprague avenue, at Railroad avenue; on Academy avenue, on the westerly side of Litte avenue.

Mr. Mance, of the Street Committee, reported in favor of accepting Lenox Place, and on Mr. Baldwin's motion it will be accepted as soon as the sidewalk removed on Liberty street is replaced.

The Mayor presented a letter from Superintendent McGuire, of the Erie, in reference to the order requiring. the company to bridge over Genung street so as to carry the tracks overhead, in which he said the company did not now feel in condition to do the work.

Mr. Reed moved that the City Attorney begin proceedings against the company, Mr. Baldwin seconded the motion and it was carried. A draft for $50 was ordered drawn in favor of Alfred Ailee. On motion of Mr. Greene, the Sew-

or Committee was directed to investigate the complaints of defective sewers and report at next meeting.

Mr. Baldwin moved that the City Attorney draft an ordinance prohibiting the running of roof or surface water into sanitary sewers. Carried.

Mr. Luddington moved to purchase two chandliers for Ontario Hose House. Mr, Greene amended to refer to Fire Committee. Amendment carried.

Mr. Luddington offered a resolution declaring the cost of the Albert street sewer to be $651.33, and fixing the limit of assessment to be the properties benefitted and directing the city assessors to assess the amount named on properties benefitted.

On Mr. Funnell's motion, a draft for $25 was drawn to the order of Mrs. Little.
